DM Cat news update (june 27th 2007)

Sorry!, there won't be any other update. The inventory is currently working. I wanted to release the the program even if there were still minor bugs in the programm because I successfully made my card inventory. So I builded the package and while testing the installation, the card sorting simply stopped working. WTF! So I said to my self that the programm will simply not be released.

If you are a visual basic programmer and if you want the source code, I can alway supply it, just e-mail me at ericp[at]ariel.bdeb.qc.ca. The problem with visual basic is since it is an event oriented programming language, it's hard to debug since anything can trigger an event that will perform things without letting you know.
